Nephilim - The Son of God (The Son of God) is the Bible definition of the Nephilim, the offspring of the Giants and the Gods (Gn 6.5). Revelations says that there are Nephilim (people of the wicked generation) in the Earth and that God will return them. It is a peculiar Bible subject. It's not in the E-A-S-Y section of the Bible. It does exist! So the Son of God you mean Jesus Christ. Do you believe Jesus is God? In deed do you believe our Lord Jesus will return before the end of the world? I hope you dont. Amen." Revelation 14:4-6 4 And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, "Behold, the dwelling place of God is with man. He will dwell with them, and they will be his people, and God himself will be with them as their God. 5 He will wipe away every tear from their eyes, and death shall be no more, neither shall there be mourning, nor crying, nor pain anymore, for the former things have passed away." 6 And he who was seated on the throne said, "Behold, I am making all things new." And he said, "Write: this man (Jesus) was (and is) the Son of God." Amen. And bear much fruit.

Q: How to return JSON body from a controller in ui-router I have setup my AngularJS application using ui-router. I wanted to read the body of a file being uploaded to my controller. This is being used by a javascript application in the browser. All of this is very basic stuff so maybe I am overlooking something. I would like to make a call to the controller to read the body of the file that is being uploaded and return it as JSON to the browser. I am sure this can be done, but I do not know the correct approach. Can anyone show me the correct approach to this? Or should I be doing this another way? Thank you! A: If you have an AngularJS app where you are receiving a file-upload, then your controller is typically run on the server. From there, you would send a "PUT" request to the url, with the request body being the file you just received. See this article for an example of how to handle file-upload with Angular and the XHR (XMLHttpRequest object). If your controller is to be run in the browser, then you can still handle the file upload like so: AngularJS $scope.uploadFile = function(file) { if (file != null) { var xhr = new XMLHttpRequest(); xhr.upload.onprogress = function(e) { if (e.lengthComputable) { $scope.progress = Math.round(e.loaded / e.total * 100); console.log("Upload progress: ", $scope.progress); } } xhr.open("PUT", "/upload-path", true); xhr.setRequestHeader("Content-type", "application/json"); xhr.send(file); } } Controller Code app.controller('FileUploadController', function
