I am building a table that has background-color: #e4e4e4; border-collapse: collapse; border-color: #c7c7c7; but the custom built one renders perfectly fine if it was built inside a larger table in markup (the above style renders fine in place of the border, and the background-color seems to be ignored). How can I get the desired effect of a background-color in a custom table? Thanks. A: You can set the background for a cell to achieve the same effect. Create a new style sheet in your styles folder called: .yourClassName
