Here's a query that is executing fine: select m., sum(n.qty) from accounts m left outer join orders n on n.custid = m.custid group by m.custid; However, when I try and add a subquery to the join, I get an error because there is no table called n. select m., sum(n.qty) from (select m., sum(n.qty) nqty from accounts m left outer join orders n on n.custid = m.custid group by m.custid) m group by m.custid; The error is: You have an error in your SQL syntax; check the manual that corresponds to your MySQL server version for the right syntax to use near ' from (select m., sum(n.qty) nqty from accounts' at line 2 How should I do this query differently? I need to group and calculate a sum on a value and I want to use a subquery to iterate over the customers and sum up the quantity. Here is what the tables look like: orders table accounts table A: No single quotes around the aliases: select m., sum(n.qty) from accounts m left outer join
