I believe this is the one with the cutest frog. A: From inside the archive folder: From inside the zip file: The first is the AAC version the second is the HEVC version. They have the same name but different extension. The FileSize reported here is of the HEVC version. So I guess you are in the right place. You can see what is contained by simply reading the first letter of the archive name. Like in this case: gravity-falls.ep19.s02.1080p.web.dl.ac3-2.0.mkv graphics.h264.ac3-2.0.mkv 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a curable liquid photochromic composition and a curable film. 2. Description of the Related Art In recent years, various liquid photochromic materials and systems for their application have been developed, and they are drawing attention in the fields of, for example, optical information recording, protection of the environment and the like, because of their good reversibility and good durability. A variety of photochromic liquid materials and systems have been developed, and the development of optically reversible liquid materials and systems is still in progress. Various researchers, including the present inventors, have been studying the development of various systems by taking into consideration the following problems. One of the problems associated with the development of photochromic liquid materials is that the stability of photochromic compounds deteriorates markedly when the compounds are blended with a variety of organic solvents in order to prevent the photochromic compounds from coloration by light. Various studies are continuing to develop a wide variety of photochromic liquid materials, and a further improvement in the stability of photochromic compounds during storage is required. Another problem is that when the photochromic compounds are blended with various organic solvents to prepare liquid photochromic materials, problems such as decomposition, deterioration of the quality of
