• ELDEN RING PROMO: A successor to BROKEN LINKS. Please enjoy BROKEN LINKS here.

From the creators of BROKEN LINKS:

"After successfully seeing the success BROKEN LINKS had in Europe, we have been working on a new fantasy MMORPG project, ELDEN RING. This gaming project features a vast world that takes place mostly in the Lands Between the living and the dead and revolves around the story of the tome The White Stone of the Scarlet Prophecy, the key to overcoming this world. In the game, a user (or group of users) can build their own world and put it on display for all to see. This user world can be shared or unshared, but when shared it will be visible to any user that has been linked to the world and can enter to find in it. Just like BROKEN LINKS, the most important thing in our game is friendship, friendship with both our users and the devs. You can freely express yourself by sharing and calling out your own tips and requests to the devs, this is how a true sense of gaming community plays out. The character creation feature is unique in this game. The world has a multitude of explorable areas, with each area having diverse placement of resources. Resources can be collected, used and sold at shops, to be carried back to your home base to refine. Items purchased with the resources are then carried into your home which you can use to improve several aspects of your character. The game is currently set for release on the PC platform in 2014. With over 24 hours of gameplay currently, we will be providing 60 days of playtime for our release date. Thanks for reading."
