Create conference calls with multiple friends and business partners using a web browser. No need for any hardware or special applications. TrueConf is a powerful multimedia conferencing application that allows you to create and join conference calls over the web. With TrueConf, you can easily make conference calls with other participants at your workplace, school or any other place where you have an Internet connection. It is very easy to use and you don't need any special software or hardware to start and join a conference. TrueConf has the same set of features as Skype, except it works over the Internet and not only on the phone network. You just need to make a single click to join a conference. TrueConf supports calls among a maximum of 16 participants and it uses the WebRTC standard to take place the call. This means that participants do not need any special hardware or software in order to join a conference. TrueConf users can invite people to their conference by clicking on their public profiles on any social network. Users can also invite people to their conference from their address book or invite them from their friends lists. The invitees are presented with a dialog box where they can accept or decline the invitation. TrueConf supports audio and video calling (including for when calls are made over mobile devices). TrueConf also supports video calling, whiteboards, instant messaging and sending files, and chat. TrueConf uses advanced security features, such as RSA 2048, to make sure that your information stays private. It also has features to share your computer screen or set up your conference. The application has been optimized for the Firefox web browser, so it works the same in both Linux and Windows systems. Skype for Business is a VoIP software developed by Microsoft. It is developed to let businesses bring their employees, customers, or partners in contact without using a traditional phone. Skype for Business is a web-based application that can be accessed with Microsoft's browser and any other web browser. Some versions are only available for Windows systems. The functions of this tool are divided into several sections: New Messaging You can use Skype for Business to send instant messages to any other user. The app provides an instant messaging window where you can create, view, and join conference calls. File Transfer When sending a file through the service, you can set the file type as well as set whether it is automatically encrypted. Address Book You can access your company's contact list from this section, which also provides
