Now that the relevant features of Photoshop are on the web, I thought it would help to give a sample of what it's like. This will dramatically reduce the time it takes to edit an image. If you need to remove a logo or an eyesore, this is the way to go. All you have to do is select the area you want to remove and choose Remove Color (instead of Fade or Colors). Use the advanced options to fine tune. It's less of an impact, but not much.

You can use a variety of tools such as the powerful selection tool and various brushes such as textures, pen tool, eraser, airbrush and so on. These tools can enable you to edit or retouch the image, crop or rotate the photo, and even add or move the objects.
